

unitar

United Nations Institute for Training and Research

Unitar Online Catalogue

CIFAL Shanghai: Course on Information Security Technology for Developing Countries

Type:	Course
Emplacement:	Shanghai, China
Date:	19 Sep 2012 to 13 nov 2012
Durée:	56 Days
Zone du programme:	E-Governance, , Local Development
Site internet:	http://www.cifalshanghai.org
Prix:	0.00 $US
Personne de référence de l'événement:	jia.zhang@cifalshanghai.org
Partenariat:	PRC Ministry of Commerce

ARRIÈRE PLAN

With the integrated application of IT services, information and communications technology (ICT) has become the basis and lifeline of a country's national and local economy. Information systems are growing in popularity and importance in all areas national economies and our daily life. With the increasing dependence on information systems, information security issues are also increasingly serious. They are concerning a variety of users including enterprises, organizations, government departments and agencies. Preparing local governments and technical staff to meet the needs information security and safety in e-governance and ICT services can be a key priority and need for many governments.

OBJECTIFS DE L'ÉVÉNEMENT

The objective of this 56 day course is to train and develop Information Security professionals with have in-depth knowledge of the latest trends in the field of information security from their home country and abroad.

OBJECTIFS D'APPRENTISSAGE

Participants will be expected to:

1. Analyse and discuss information security systems;
2. Define the concepts of hierarchical protection,
3. Review ISO27001 systems management
4. Compare and contrast methods of network risk assessment; and
5. Apply processes for using knowledge management to improve building the information security systems within organizations.

CONTENU ET STRUCTURE

1. Safety organization: structure and security standards;
2. Security system overview and systems construction;
3. Review of information security management systems;
4. Security systems implementation methods;
5. Hierarchical protection foundational knowledge;
6. Safety planning case studies;
7. Security service systems;
8. Network security risk assessment;
9. ISO27001 management system;
10. ISMS management system.

MÉTHODOLOGIE

This workshop will be delivered through a series of expert lectures, team discussions, site visits, applied exercises, reflection assignments and case study development.

AUDIENCE VISÉE

- Chief Information Officer and Chief Security Officer from governments and enterprises; information systems or network administrators; network/security system integrators; telecommunications providers, ISP and ICP; finance/securities service providers; related network maintenance personnel and IT personnel who interested in network information security.
- Group training: department of information management; information audit department; IT team of enterprises, governments, institutions.

INFORMATIONS SUPPLÉMENTAIRES

Specific Certificate issued by the the P. R. of China's Ministry of Commerce.

Participants are eligible to apply through Chinese Embassies/Consulates only if holding residence and/or citizenship from following countries: Pakistan, Philippines, Laos, Myanmar, Nepal, Vietnam, Palestine, Jordan, Ethiopia, Guinea-Bissau, Ghana, Zimbabwe, Kenya, Liberia, Malawi, Mozambique, Sierra Leone, Seychelles, Sudan, Tanzania, Zanzibar, Uganda, Antigua And Barbuda, Cuba, Jamaica, Fiji, Micronesia, Albania, Macedonia, Serbia

1-2 participants each country