Information and services are essential for decision-makers to understand the risks and opportunities of climate change. This e-tutorial provides an overview of climate information and services, including their uses in development planning and policy, the role of legislation in strengthening them, and examples of instruments available to governments for mainstreaming them.

UNDP is a leading organization in the field of climate information and services. The e-tutorial is based on the work of Kit Nicholson, a senior advisor at UNDP. The e-tutorial is available in French and English.

OBJECTIFS D'APPRENTISSAGE

After completing this e-tutorial, participants will be able to:

- Define climate information and services.
- Identify the uses of climate information and services in development planning and policy.
- Discuss the role of legislation in strengthening climate information and services.
- Provide examples of instruments available to governments for mainstreaming climate information and services.

CONTENU ET STRUCTURE

The e-tutorial is structured into several sections. It begins with an introduction to climate information and services, followed by a discussion of their uses in development planning and policy. The e-tutorial then explores the role of legislation in strengthening climate information and services, and provides examples of instruments available to governments for mainstreaming them. The e-tutorial concludes with a summary and a list of references.

INFORMATIONS SUPPLÉMENTAIRES

UN CC:Learn is a partnership of more than 30 multilateral organizations supporting countries to design and implement systematic, recurrent and results-oriented climate change learning. At the global level, the partnership supports knowledge-sharing, promotes the development of common climate change learning materials, and coordinates learning interventions through a collaboration of UN agencies and other partners. At the national level, UN CC:Learn supports countries in developing and implementing national climate change learning strategies. Through its engagement at the national and global levels, UN CC:Learn contributes to the implementation of Article 6 of the UNFCCC on training, education and public awareness-raising, and the 2012-2020 Doha Work Programme. Funding for UN CC:Learn is provided by the Swiss Government and UN partners. The Secretariat for UN CC:Learn is hosted by the UN Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR).
