

unitar

United Nations Institute for Training and Research

Unitar Online Catalogue

Information Technology Applications and Development: Armenia

Type:	Seminar
Location:	Shanghai, China
Date:	21 Apr 2016 to 10 May 2016
Duration:	21 Days
Programme Area:	Decentralize Cooperation Programme
Website:	http://www.cifalshanghai.org
Price:	$0.00
Event Focal Point Email:	yugang.wu@cifalshanghai.org

BACKGROUND

Participants will be introduced to China's and Shanghai's practice and achievements in the field of informatization, development and IT applications. Participants will learn about the state of social and economic development in China and the application of information technology in the variety aspects of society.

EVENT OBJECTIVES

Through integration of theoretical and practical training, such as thematic lectures, special subjects, free discussion and spot investigation, participants will be introduced to China's and Shanghai's practice and achievements in the field of informatization and IT applications.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of the seminar, participants will be able to:

Describe the state of social and economic development in China

Identify the ways that information technology applications are used in the different aspects of society

Recognize the philosophy behind informatization development.

CONTENT AND STRUCTURE

The following topics will be addressed during the seminar:

Introduction to IT

Urban Informatization

Information Security

Enterprise Informatization

Mobile IT Application

E-Commerce

Application of information technology in various social development fields: communication, agriculture, education and city design and construction

METHODOLOGY

The seminar will be delivered through lectures, technical visits, case studies and presentations.

TARGETED AUDIENCE

The targeted audience is comprised of representatives from the national government of Armenia.