This workshop was organized in collaboration with the Saudi Olympic Academy as part of CIFAL Saudi Arabia's sports diplomacy and sustainability initiative. It aimed to highlight the strategic potential of the Olympic Games and national sports systems in advancing the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly in areas such as health, education, inclusion, gender, infrastructure, and peacebuilding.

- Understand the interconnection between the Olympic Games, Olympic Agenda 2020+5, and the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).
- Identify key SDGs that are most relevant to sports governance and national sports development strategies in the Saudi context.
- Recognize global best practices where Olympic and national sports organizations have advanced sustainability, inclusion, and peace through sports-based initiatives.
- Apply practical tools for aligning sports federation activities with SDG targets, including impact measurement, community outreach, and institutional reporting.
- Initiate inter-agency dialogue to integrate SDG principles into national sports programming, governance, and youth engagement.
