CIFAL Merida, , Airports Council International

(ACI)

The aviation and airport management sector faces increasing challenges related to operational efficiency, safety, sustainability, and governance. In response to these needs, CIFAL Mérida, in collaboration with ACI-LAC and UNITAR, organized the Diplomado Internacional en Gestión Aeroportuaria to strengthen the strategic and managerial capacities of senior airport professionals. The programme aligns with CIFAL's mandate to deliver high-quality, applied training that supports sustainable development and institutional leadership.

- Understand key principles of modern airport management
- Apply strategic and operational tools to airport administration
- Analyze regulatory, operational, and organizational challenges in the aviation sector
- Strengthen leadership and management skills relevant to senior airport professionals

The diploma programme is structured into thematic modules covering:

- Airport management and operations
- Strategic planning and governance
- Regulatory and institutional frameworks
- Management tools for senior airport executives
- Case studies and applied learning activities

- Online lectures delivered by subject-matter experts
- Case-based learning and applied examples
- Interactive sessions and guided discussions
- Structured modules with progressive learning outcomes

- Senior airport management and executives
- Directors and decision-makers in aviation authorities
- Airport administrators and operational leaders

- Professionals involved in airport governance and management
